GENTLEMEN: It has been suggested to me that a lecture upon the history and principles of the Federal Constitution, would be very acceptable at the present time, when important questions are presenting themselves, and differences of options are enter-tained by those who are equally auxious to arrive at sound and truthful conclusions. It is a subject which I have reflected upon with no little interest.

with no little interest.

I do not know a charitable fund I would sooner aid than that of the Fire Department of this city. Nor a body of citizens before whom I would prefer delivering such a lecture. I will do so with pleasure. If it be voor wish, at any time and place which you may appoint. My subject will be "The Birth and Development of Los American Republic."
